HUMPHREY MARSHALL, of Henry. THURSDAY, APRIL 28 1959.

We had the good fortune to hear the delate at Elizabethtown last Tuesday between the rival can didates for the Governorship of Kentucky. And a very entertaining and admirable debate it was. It was more; it was a most instructive and telling one.

was more; it was a most instructive and telling one.

Mr. Magodia, the Democratic candidate, is a mandy, generous, and genial gentleman, a well-informed politician, and a fervest and flesses speaker. Nor is be by any means destitute of advoitness either in the selection of topics or in the handling of them. On the contrary, he exhibits a good deal of dexterity in both; quite as much we think as is perfectly committant with the more sterling qualities which he undenstoodly peessess and which we cheerfully accord to him. He couldn't well be much more expert without being a listle less housest. Further-country, and if it should be an inconveniance to unadoubtedly pecessees and which we cheerfully account to him. He couldn't well be much more expert without being a little less honest. Furthermore, he is lively, jocular, and fanny. And sometimes he is irresistibly drell. On the whole, Mr. Magedia makes a very respectable attempt to discharge the Impracticable and impossible task which his party expects or professes to expect him to perform. He acquita himself with a considerable degree of credit; but, unfortunately, he desen't acquit his party at all. Who could acquit nach a party?

The opening of the discussion at Elizabathours devolved on Mr. Magedia. With every disposition to be complimentary to the geutleman we must say that his speech was not an argument so much as a paracyric or a string of pasagrace. It was an effort of almost pure glorification; vigerous and often elequent, indeed, but, still, a sounding tide of eulogy. Mr. M glorified the effice to which he aspires, glorified the pissoner of Kentucky, glorified to brinary mee and beautiful women" who came after them and who now adors the Commonwealth, glorified the new Constitution, glorified the President who is his party's representative and head, and glorified the new Constitution, glorified the President who is his party's representative and head, and glorified the achieved nearly every sort of glorification, except self glorification; and cander compals us to say that he might have accomplished even that if the subject heals' part it entirely out of his reach.

After consuming an hour and a half in filling us the subject heals' party are presented to the English people. We think the ministry will be strengthened by the aparty of the subject heals' party are presented to the English people. We think the sministry will be strengthened by the aparty of the subject heals' party are presented to the English people. We think the sministry will be strengthened by the aparty of the contraction of the most imported to the finite party.

think the ministry will be strengthened by the appeal to the course of which, however, he paid a most high and hearty and glowing tribute to the genine and worth of his compaction. Mr. Magofin and down. His appeach (we were gratified to see or at least to think) was recoived not unfavorably by those in whose nervice it was certainly an earnest and well-meant effort. If, as respects pertineacy and general force, it fell below the expectation of his friends, they suppressed the symptoms of chaggin; but we take it ppressed the symptoms of chagrin; but we take it Go Josiah Randall, whee presiding at a Demofor granted that as samifule men they were satisfied.

A party that staggers under such sins as at present traduced () Junnings Wise, editor of the Richmord are crushing the Democracy to the earth ought not to be too exacting of a public advocate, when it finds one, or too tigorous or particular in estimating the though he had differed from the Democratic party though he had differed from the Democratic parly in some things, yet had differed bonestly and did his best and his friends ought to have been astighed if they were not. Wa hope they were.

But Joshus F. Bell was not. And he vindicated his di astinfaction in a speech which for power and grace and felicity could be excelled only by himself. Exhibiting in a simple flash of pleasantry the utter and luddercoss irrelevancy of the great belk of his competitor's speech, he proceeded at once, in a strain of stern yet winning eloquence, to arraign the Democratic party, as represented by the Administration at Washington, and glorified by its representative in this contect, for crimes and mitdements which match, if they do not overshadow, unity. Nothing could surpass the clearness united Democracy of Philadelphia."

Has points were impregnable. And the audience felt it and involuntarily acknowledged it. Mr Bell trimmphantly institute his confident parties of the constitution of the constitution

Bell trimmphantly justified his condemnation of the party which Mr. Magoffia but glorified without defeeding. He, however, did not stop at this.

Having fixed a long line of actual atricities on the Administration, and set forth their hidcounness in the medium of an eloquence as clear as light it self, Mr. Bell tunned anddeally upon those structure articities of doctrine which contain within themselves as in a germ the source of immensurable future evila and which the Administration or Mr. Magoffia or both have adopted.

Mr. B. demanded of his competitor to any whether the source of ntly justified his condemnation of the eovereignly.

Mr. S. demanded of his competitor to say whether or not be was in favor of the doctrine of the absolute and unrestrainable power of the majority which the President announced in his special Kansas measures. He called on him to define his position, with entire control of their domestic alfairs and on terms of equality with the other States. the wife cannot on him to define his position with respect to the transfer of the war-making power to the President which figures so conspicuously in the foreign policy of the Administration.

We see it aurounced in the Winchester Chronicle, that Harrison Thomson, Esq., is a candidate to tep resent the county of Clarke in the next Legislature. We are gratified that Mr. T. has consented to permit himself to be presented by his friends for that post ion indicated. A long acquaintnesse with that gentlemen smalles in lo say that he is an energetic, intelligent, right-thinking man, a public appirted, useful citizen, as done who will do credit to the position to which he sepirer, or any other for the proper discharge of the duties of which the best qualities of head and heart are requisits. Clarke county is fo tunate in having so many citizens of worth and intelligence, who are felly competent to represent her interests efficiently and properly in the Legislature, and it may with truth be said that she has teen invariably as well represented in the State councils as any county in the Commonwealth.

Between Three and Four Thousand Mormons Comfing—We are Informed that a Mormon elder has been in this sity, and mada arrangements with II W. Love to have between 50 to 100 hand carts made as soon as possible, to be used in crossing the plaios the coming cummer. Between three and four thon aund of the faithful followers of Prince Brigham are expected here between the lat and 10th of next mouth. They purchase their wagons in Chicago; but they are to come here and lay in a stock of provisione, and the necessary outfit for the trip. The Mormons are mostly English, Welsh, and Danes, and will most probably go better prepared to endure the hardships of the journey than did those who went out in the summer of 1856.

Jonea Republican, April 19. Counterfeiters Sentenced.—In the U. S. Circuit Court, yesterday, Roosey Cheeseman and Wm. Dunn were arraigned npon indictments charging them with having counterfeited coin of the Finited States, and, pleuding guilty, they were each sentenced to serve a term in the Unio peuticuliary—the former nine the latter aix months. The latter is in very feeble health, being consumptive.

Cin. Commercial. Disnage from Monday's Frost.—We hear of considerable namage to the young cotton for several niles around this city, from the frost on Sunday night. In many localities the entire cotton up was killed, and great difficulty is being experienced in getting seed to replant. To what extent the damage will be permanent from this want of seed is hard to say. Being late in the season, few, if any, anicipated frost, and on this account did not take care to provide for such a contingency. The corn was not injured, and is kooking well generally.
